Gotham Independent Film Awards announced three additional tributes to be presented at this year's 25th anniversary awards ceremony, multiple Oscar and Golden Globe winners Robert Redford and Helen Mirren and Steve Golin (founder and managing partner of Anonymous Content).

- Robert Redford and Helen Mirren will receive respectively Actor and actress Tribute
- Steve Golin will receive the Industry Tribute at the 25th anniversary Independent Filmmaker Project Gotham Independent Film Awards.

"We are thrilled to recognize the careers and achievements of such lauded industry veterans as Robert Redford, Helen Mirren, and Steve Golin as part of our 25th anniversary celebrations," said Joana Vicente, Executive Director of IFP and the Made in NY Media Center.

The 25th Anniversary IFP Gotham Independent Film Awards will be held on Nov. 30 at Cipriani Wall Street in New York City. Nominees in the Gotham Awards' competitive categories will be announced on Oct. 22.

Robert Redford made his mark with early breakout roles in 1969's "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" and "The Sting," which won seven Oscars, including Best Picture. Redford has also won a Directors Guild of America Award, a Golden Globe Award and the Academy Award for Best Director for his feature film directorial debut, "Ordinary People." He can currently be seen in "A Walk in the Woods" costarring Nick Nolte.

Helen Mirren began her career in theater, in the role of Cleopatra at the National Youth Theatre. Since her breakout film role in 1980's "The Long Good Friday," she has starred in multiple films, including "The Queen," for which she received an Academy Award, Golden Globe, Screen Actors Guild Award & BAFTA Award for Best Actress.

Steve Golin has more than 50 TV and film producing credits to his name, including current projects like HBO's True Detective and USA's Mr. Robot and upcoming movies like Spotlight and The Revenant.

The Gotham Independent Awards traditionally marks the official start of Oscar season, recognizing the best in independent film.

Past tribute recipients include Matt Damon, Natalie Portman, Charlize Theron, Kate Winslet, Bennett Miller, Richard Linklater, Spike Lee, David O. Russell, Ted Sarandos, Jeff Skoll, Tom Rothman, James Schamus and Bob and Harvey Weinstein.
